Playing Day

Annemarie Klein

20th February 2027 10:00 – 4:00

We are delighted to welcome Annemarie Klein to conduct our playing day this year. Annemarie is an outstanding conductor as well as a performer, teacher and musical translator. In her own words:

"Variety is one of the key ingredients in a great programme for a playing day. My great love is early music, hence why I also offer a French Baroque workshop, but I enjoy both performing and conducting music from the mediaeval to the modern. My musical training has given me the ability to analyse, arrange and interpret pieces from all eras. The same counts for the level: I believe in a mixture, from pieces that people are very comfortable with, to those that are a bit of a challenge, as it adds to the enjoyment and allows one to work on many different aspects of playing.

I believe in the power of music, in what it brings to individuals involved in playing it, and am supportive of people taking up the recorder at any age. I have recently tutored and conducted at Recorder Summer School, Higham Hall, the SRP National Recorder Festival, and the Summer Recorder Festival in Cheltenham."

Venue: Main Hall, West Oxford Community Centre, Botley Road, Oxford, OX2 0BT (see overleaf for directions).

Time: Registration from 9.15; Playing starts promptly at 10

Getting to West Oxford Community Centre

The Centre is on the West side of Oxford, on the Botley Road opposite St Frideswide's Church.

Train

The centre is 10 minutes' walk from the station. From the main entrance you will need to turn right to follow Botley Road west out of town. Cross the river and we are right opposite the church.

Buses

Several buses run to the centre through Oxford and from the West. For details see https://www.oxfordbus.co.uk/ and https://www.stagecoachbus.com/about/oxfordshire/oxford

Car

Oxford has a system of traffic filters, so unless you have a permit, you need to approach the centre from the West rather than driving through central Oxford.

The centre itself does have a small car park. In addition two parking spaces are available at the church opposite. Alternatively you can park in the Seacourt Park and Ride http://www.parkandride.net/oxford/html/oxford_parkandride.html from which it's a short walk or you can take a bus towards the City Centre and get off at the first stop.

There is almost no street parking (except for cars with West Oxford Residents parking permits or Visitor permits).

For the latest updates, please go to our website at https://srp.org.uk/oxford and click the Venue button.
